

Molotov Is Charged With Seeking New Veto Power

Paris, Aug. 8 (AP)—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, told the peace conference today that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was attempting to enforce the same veto power in the conference as he enjoys in the Foreign Ministers Council.

Paris, Aug. 8 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov reopened the troublesome issue of voting procedure in a plenary session of the peace conference today, blaming Britain and the United States for what he said was a "grave mistake." Molotov's action, coming after the rules had been approved in committee in turbulent and protracted sessions, threatened to prolong the conference. The meeting, after 10 days, still has not reached consideration on the draft peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland—prime purpose of the conference.

Called "Confusing" First speaker of the session today, Molotov said he did not think any conference recommendation voted by less than a two-thirds majority would have much weight with the council of four principal foreign ministers.

A British proposal, supported by the United States, had been approved by the rules committee providing that recommendations voted either by a two-thirds or a simple majority, should go to the Foreign Ministers Council for consideration, although those with a two-thirds majority would have more weight. The council has the final say on including such recommendations in the treaties.

Molotov said these voting rules would "confuse the whole conference."

Until Molotov spoke it had been assumed that adoption of the rules by the full conference was a foregone conclusion since all the members of the 21 nation conference were represented in the rules committee.

Fraud Probe Files Looted

Washington, Aug. 8 (AP)—A daring attempt to forestall the Garsson munitions combine expose was disclosed officially today with a Senate War Investigating committee announcement that it has the names of the "individuals" involved.

The committee formally set FBI agents on the trail of the mysterious, post-midnight prowler who looted its secret files months ago of documents being collected for the inquiry.

Simultaneously, the committee obtained a promise of new expert assistance in its search for wartime fraud and anti-profiteering loopholes as another in a series of developments which included:

1. The formal committee announcement that it had been furnished information as to "the identity of the individuals" who allegedly gained entrance to its offices at 2 a. m., carted off files on the Garsson combine, copied them in a downtown office, and returned them a few hours later. The names were withheld "for the time being."

2. A similar official disclosure that some of the committee's documents—including details of the operations of Erie basin and Batavia metal products companies, two of the concerns in the combine—have been missing since last fall. The committee reported that the FBI inquiry "is being developed."

3. A promise by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren to lend the committee two of his "ablest" auditors to go behind the figures in complicated war contracts. The committee got two other book-keeping detectives from the Bureau of Internal Revenue a day earlier.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Every indication points to a rousing Welcome Home celebration for all veterans of Adams county here next Wednesday, the first anniversary of V-J Day, the day that marks the total collapse of Japanese armed might.

No expense or effort has been spared by the county committee headed by Judge W. C. Sheely to make this celebration a gala affair and a festive one.

The entire day is being devoted to the veterans. It is their day and it is the hope of the committee that every veteran man and woman, will turn out to receive the acclaim of the entire county.

The committee is hopeful that all the veterans will join in the celebration. The committee has wisely decreed optional dress.

However, the occasion will be more colorful if veterans wear their uniforms, with their insignia, ribbons and medals, in the opinion of this humble reporter.

The uniforms of the many branches of the service in which Adams countyans served present an attractive array of colors. They are symbolic of the greatest and finest fighting force in the world . . . and all the world can be proud of them.

Some veterans are reluctant to wear their uniforms. But for this occasion, perhaps the last of its kind that will be held here, it would be appropriate and inspiring if these men and women who did such a grand job in defeating the aggressor nations would just once more dress up for this county-wide celebration.

One mother of two veterans appropriately expressed the wish as follows:

"My two sons were in service for more than two years each. I saw them in uniform on only a few occasions. In those instances it was not very pleasant because the fear that they might not return always haunted me. Now we have an opportunity to see them once more. But this time it will be a happy occasion and I would enjoy the affair much more if I could see all the veterans in uniform for this last big celebration."

Special Registrars Named By Board

The Adams county election board Wednesday named Luke H. Jacobs, Littlestown, and Mrs. Sally L. Klunk, McSherrystown, as special registrars to sit at 17 places in the county between August 24 and the end of the registration period in September.

Their first registration place is Fairfield, where they will sit from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. on August 24 to complete registrations for voters in that area who wish to become registered for the elections in November.

FIRE COMPANY TO MARCH IN V-J DAY PARADE

The Gettysburg fire company, at a meeting in the engine house Wednesday night, voted unanimously in favor of taking part in the Welcome Home parade here August 14, after the reading of a letter from the committee in charge of the celebration, but left the question as to whether members would march in the parade or ride on the fire apparatus contingent upon the number of men in uniform who turn out for it.

James B. Aumen, president of the fire company, who presided at the meeting, and others present, voiced the opinion that there should be at least 25 members in line if the company was to march in the parade. It was urged, however, that all members with uniforms report at the engine house at 1 o'clock. Use of the apparatus and the marching ground were left to the discretion of Chief James A. Aumen and the two assistant chiefs.

Flags At Honor Roll

The company, at the suggestion of President Aumen, also voted to place its two flags, the national colors and the state flag, in stands in front of the World War II honor roll on Center Square from 9 a. m. until sundown the day of the Welcome Home celebration. They will be removed for a short time in the afternoon to be carried in the parade, and returned in front of the honor roll after the parade.

The firemen made plans for attending the annual convention of the Adams County Firemen's association at East Berlin Labor Day, September 2, and the state convention at York October 1, 2 and 3, and elected delegates and alternates to the county gathering. The following were elected delegates: Charles Mayhall, Albert Bupp, Lester Oyley, Charles Ziegler, Mervin Crouse, Raymond Menges, Russell Staley, Emory Strausbaugh, Edward Anzenberger and Harry Mort. Alternates named are: Joseph McEnrick, Clair Foulk, Donald McSherry, Francis Stern, John Bowers, Donald Jacobs, Ivan Breighner, Maurice Miller, George March and Howard Small.

Four Seek To Join

An invitation to attend the home coming celebration at Hanover September 2 was tabled because the date falls on the date of the county convention. President Aumen reported that reservations have been made for members of the Gettysburg fire company at the Brooks and Colonial hotels in York for the three days of the state convention. Cards will be sent to members with a return card designating whether they wish reservations and whether they will participate in the parade.

The company approved the applications of two new members Wednesday night bringing the membership total to 125, the limit set by the by-laws. Four other applications were held up pending vacancies. The bazaar committee made its final report, showing total receipts from the bazaar of $2,613.43. The next meeting will be held September 11 at the cottage in the mountains, and will be a corn bake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross Shuman, East Broadway, have purchased the Dr. Howard L. Diehl estate property at 34 Baltimore street from Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Singmaster and May Belle Stewart, Philadelphia. The property transfer has been recorded in the office of Winfield G. Horner, county register and recorder. Revenue stamps on the deed indicated a purchase price of about $24,000.

The Shuman Cut Rate Drug store is located on the first floor of the two-story, brick building, and there is an apartment on the second floor. Mrs. Singmaster and Mrs. Stewart are daughters of the late Dr. Diehl.

Among other property transfers listed at the court house are the following:

Loses Clothes; Now In Bastile

Has anyone seen a man's outfit of clothing misplaced by one Neil Raymond Walker, 48, of York, and various other sections of Pennsylvania?

Walker was said by state police to have been wandering about the Pitzer's section of upper Adams county Wednesday in the non-shrinking outfit that the Lord gave him at birth. Police, notified by residents of the area who felt the scenery was not improved by Walker's nudity, went in search. Later they were informed that someone had taken Walker into custody.

Wednesday night State Policeman James Treas, still looking for Walker, found the man, this time wearing a pair of pants and nothing else.

Walker was said to have told police that he "lost" his clothes along with his pocketbook and other articles. Where or how he had lost the clothes he could not explain. The pants he said, had been given him by an upper countian.

Police, not believing the clothing shortage was as acute as Walker's condition appeared to indicate, brought the man before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore who sent Walker to jail for thirty days on a charge of vagrancy.

11 SWIMMERS GET RED CROSS CERTIFICATES

Eleven members of the swimming class conducted at the Battlefield pool, near town, by the Adams County Red Cross this morning received beginners' certificates in swimming.

In a formal presentation ceremony, Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter, presented the cards to the youngsters who succeeded in passing the examinations conducted by Miss Eleanor Berkle, instructor for the course.

Those receiving the cards were: Louise DeHaas, 41 Steinwehr avenue; John Fry, 68 West Middle street; Jay and Suzanne Schmitt, 149 North Stratton street; Penny Nester and Loyce Waltman, Littlestown; Edwin Bachman, and Richard Dayhoff, North Stratton street; Susan Lighter, 353 Buford avenue; Donald Nunemaker, 223 East Middle street and Charles Sanders, 37 Steinwehr avenue.

30 Others In Class

The certificates were given to those youngsters who could jump into deep water, level off and swim 15 yards, turn about and swim back to the starting point and then dive into deep water, level off and swim around, turn over on the back and rest in a floating position for one-fourth minute, then turn and swim back to the starting point.

About 30 other youngsters, who began swimming this year and who have, according to Miss Berkle, learned to swim some strokes but did not yet have the endurance to pass the test, were audience for the ceremony. The youngsters who did not qualify were mostly those who could not swim prior to coming to the pool for the six lessons given there.

To Get Certificate

Friday another certificate is expected to be presented to Suzanne Ziegler, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Earl Ziegler, South street who has one more examination to take before qualifying for a swimmers' card.

Miss Ziegler, who learned to swim in a Red Cross conducted class last year and received her beginners' certificate then, passed her intermediate tests this summer at Camp Nawakwa and so far has successfully completed the following requirements in swimming: 100 yards breast stroke; 100 yards side stroke; 100 yards back crawl; 50 yards back swim using the legs only; turns, surface dive, tread water for one minute, and make a plunging dive and a running front dive. Friday she is scheduled to try for the ten-minute endurance swim which is all she lacks to qualify for the certificate.

CAMP NAWAKWA IS STUDIED BY OTHER SECTIONS

More than 2,000 persons from nearly all of the eastern states will have been at Camp Nawakwa, upper Adams county Lutheran Leadership camp, before the establishment completes its summer session this year, officials estimated today.

Of that number about 1,200 will be young men and women who came to the camp for the studies and activities provided. The remaining 800 will be faculty and staff members who vary from camp to camp. Each different type of class has experts in its field to provide the instruction which ranges from such things as craftsmanship and religious instruction, from learning to give artificial respiration to, for the older members, teaching in a laboratory school conducted at Arendtsville.

Nearly every camp at Nawakwa has its observers—men and women from other sections of the U. S. who are present to learn how Nawakwa operates in order to take back to similar camps elsewhere what can be learned at the local establishment. There at the present time as an observer is Dr. Alfred Bell, president of the Kansas Synod, who is studying the program to seek out what can be utilized at the Kansas Lutheran camp, Camp Wa-Shung-Ga.

Study Out Of Doors

The students not only find enjoyment in the physical activities which are numerous, but also in the outdoor classes in such things as the Old Testament, New Testament, ways of teaching, development of a Christian personality, courses in primary, junior, or young people's work, how to teach, how to understand pupils, Christian beliefs and Jesus and His teaching.

Those courses are the required subjects. They also have as electives, such things as Christian Home building, missions, social problems, nature study, Christian worship, dramatization, Christ and fine arts.

For their instructors the youths and youngsters obtain the best available. Currently there are such men as the Rev. Frank Stevenson, of Spencer, Indiana, who is teaching in old testament, Dr. Harold J. Mumper, one of the editors of the Parish and Church school board, the Rev. Quinton Garman, of San Diego, Calif., mission parish who recently completed service as a Navy chaplain, and the Rev. Alton Motch, who recently accepted a post as executive secretary of the council of administration for young people's work in St. Paul, Minn.

The activities of the camp spread out through the year and into other channels than those directly associated with the site near Brysonia.

Meditations Published

There is, for example "The Hand of God." It is a bound book of meditations based on scenes at Camp Nawakwa of which over 2,000 have been sold so far.

Publication of the meditations, which were written by Lutheran leaders, is one of the activities of the Nawakwa Alumni association which meets each June in a weekend retreat opening the activities at Camp Nawakwa. The camp itself is 18 years old, the alumni association is about 15 years old. It also publishes a year book for the camp containing details of the activities of all camps.

Each year innumerable parents visit the camp here, some staying for the two week periods of the camps in Gettysburg and other nearby communities.

Food presents no problem for the boys and girls who attend the camp, except where to put it all. For each meal the campers consume such quantities of food as 2½ bushels of potatoes, 14 gallons of green beans, two bushels of apples for sauce and five gallons of apple butter. At one meal 80 loaves of fresh bread were consumed.

Fix Date Of Death Of Donald O. Price

Mrs. Helen L. Price, 100 Baltimore street, has received an official notice from Major Gen. Edward F. Whittell, the Adjutant General of the Army, that the date of the death of her son, T. Sgt. Donald O. Price, of the Air Corps, has been officially listed as July 26, 1944, instead of July 27, 1945.

T. Sgt. Price had been previously reported as missing in action over Austria on July 26, 1944, and the presumptive date of his death had been established as July 27, 1945, by a Finding of Death.

An official report based on a statement by T. Sgt. Joseph W. Landers, 2855 Bailey avenue, New York city, has led to the establishment of the exact date of death. Landers reported that Price was killed in action on July 26, 1944, near Zwolfach, Austria. Landers was told by a German anti-aircraft crew that Price was killed, according to the official report.

ASK DISTRICTS TO PAY COST OF HEALTH SETUP

Eighteen school districts in Adams county this week are considering a plan outlined by the county superintendent of schools by which the townships can, if they wish, provide nursing service and complete physical and dental examinations for their youngsters during the coming school year.

About 3,600 students will be affected by the decisions reached by the boards.

Sent out as an alternate plan when the directors of the county Tuberculosis society turned down a request for that organization to sponsor, along with others, the program of nurse service for schools lacking such service at present, the new plan asks the townships for about $40 per room per year for the service. About 30 to 33 students are in each room, making the cost a little over $1 per child.

Lack State Funds

County officials pointed out today that the service would in all probability cost the districts very little next year when the state legislature is expected to pass laws providing reimbursement for nursing service. There is no state reimbursement for such service this year.

Three Catholic schools, in Bonneauville, New Oxford and Conewago Chapel, asked to cooperate in the plan have notified the county office there is no money available for such a project this year.

No township boards have answered the county office's request.

Under the plan the county would be divided into five areas for nurses. In area one, Menallen township, Arendtsville, Hamiltonban, Fairfield, and Liberty townships already have nurse service. To those schools, if they wished, the Franklin township and Bendersville districts would be added, with the nurse handling all of those schools.

Cost For Districts

The plan would call for an expenditure of $44 by Bendersville and $440 from Franklin township which has 10 rooms to Bendersville's one.

Area 2 and the cost per district includes: Freedom, $120; Highland, $80; Cumberland, $200; Straban, $280; St. Pleasant $200; Mt. Joy, $240; St. Joseph's, Bonneauville, $160 and Sacred Heart, Conewago, $240. A total of 38 rooms are included. (Please Turn to Page 8)

Warning From School Officials

School officials here urged high school graduates and others who may be solicited by representatives of correspondence schools to secure advice of the county superintendent's office or their high school principal before investing any money.

Schoolmen here have learned that representatives of schools not on the state's list of approved home-study institutions have been selling courses in this area. Prospective pupils for these courses should find out whether the school has met state standard requirements before enrolling, it was suggested.

Window Display Welcomes Vets

Autographed photographs of five of the nation's war leaders occupy prominent places in a "Welcome Home" window display in the east window of Lippy's Men's Wear store, 49 Chambersburg street.

Occupying the central spaces are photographs of President Truman, General Douglas MacArthur, commander of the Allied forces in the Pacific, and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander in the European theatre.

At Gen. MacArthur's left is a photograph of General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding officer of the American air forces in World War II, and to the right of General Eisenhower are pictures of General Alexander A. Vandegrift, Marine Corps commandant, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander.

The background of the window display features a scroll in red, white and blue with the words, "Welcome Home, Veterans, Veterans Day, August 14." A symbolic design shows the Statue of Liberty with several four-motored airplanes circling it, and below, three soldiers marching abreast, with rifles over their shoulders. Ribbons of red, white and blue complete the tastefully arranged and appropriate "welcome" display.

The photographs are owned by John D. Lippy, Jr., who operates the Lincoln Room in the Wills house, and were loaned to Radford H. Lippy, a brother, and owner of the men's store, for the window display.

Pays $10 Fine For Concealing Powder

Wilbur Laughman, Fourth and Railroad streets, arrested Monday afternoon on a charge of storing 12 cans of black powder in a small building on a furniture factory property on Fourth street without permission of the State Department of Labor and Industry, pleaded guilty to this charge Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. He was fined $10 and costs.

Laughman, a veteran of World War II, told Squire Basehore, the latter said, that he had been employed to cut pulpwood, and took the powder for back pay he said was due him. Workmen for the furniture company discovered the powder when they began demolition of the building Monday and reported it to police. A police guard was placed until the powder could be transferred to the state highway powder magazine.

Police said the powder was owned by Cecil Hardin, of North Carolina, by whom Laughman was employed at the time the powder was stored.

GEN. HARMON UNORTHODOX FIGHTING MAN

(This is the second of two columns on Major Gen. Ernie Harmon.)

By HAL BOYLE

Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 8 (AP)—Major Gen. Ernie Harmon, America's No. 1 policeman overseas, is an unorthodox fighting man.

Ordinary tank commanders still shudder at his dictum that the armor, not the infantry, should spearhead against enemy fortified lines.

Yet Harmon proved his point in the Anzio beachhead breakout when he slashed 5,000 yards through four German defense lines.

"It cost me 166 tanks that day," he recalled, "But we lost only ten doughboys killed and less than 100 wounded. It was worth the tanks to save hundreds of infantry lives, and within a week I had 70 of the tanks back in action again."

Tank's Day Is Past

"It's easier to repair a tank than it is to bring half a hundred doughboys back to life."

Harmon foresees a lessening importance for tank warfare in any future war.

"I saw the cavalry go out after the first world war," he said, "and I think the last war was the only one in which tanks will have played such a major role."

"Old Gravel Voice," like many a loyal old army horseman from Fort Riley, still wears his cavalry boots, but he is too hard-headed ever to want to fight a war with outmoded weapons.

His favorite vehicle now is a railroad train loaned him by Gen. McNarney to shuttle about the American zone for inspection of his troopers of the New American constabulary.

Tough, Courteous, Vigilant

"I like my own train better," he said, "But I wore the rims off the wheels and had to borrow one from the box till mine gets fixed."

Harmon labors in Trojan fashion to spread his own bulldog personality down through the ranks. He wants his constabulary troopers to be tough, courteous and vigilant.

I watched him in four inspections as he passed down the lines, chatting with every other man, bawling out a sloppily dressed soldier, praising another for his erect posture. Troopers' knees shook as the general approached.

In the absence of the chairman, Mr. King took charge of the program. Next week's meeting will be in charge of the classification and membership committee, composed of Richard A. Little, Mervin Harner, Luther D. Snyder, and William V. Speeriger.

The discussion on the topic was presented by Helen Myers. Next Sunday's theme will be "The Father's Love," and Margaret Myers will be leader. Edgar Yealy had charge of the high school group.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Methodist church will hold a bake sale at the home of Miss Ida Crouse Friday afternoon starting at 3:30 p. m.

Sugar Shortage Not Aided By Bees

Harrisburg, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Pennsylvania shortage of sugar has even affected the honey bees.

Instead of supplying sweets, the honey bees this year had to dip into low sugar stocks to keep alive themselves the state Department of Agriculture disclosed today following a mid-summer survey of honey production possibilities.

A cool, late spring and wet weather—which kept the bees from getting outside to collect nectar—were blamed.

Beekeepers explained that winter food supplies in the hives were thus depleted, and that owners had to fall back on OPA for special rations to feed the bees sugar water. Many could not get sufficient sugar in time and entire colonies of bees were wiped out.

Ends Swim And Falls Over Dead

Mercer, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—George F. Howlika, 37, of Endicott, N. Y., died last night when he toppled backwards into the waters of nearby Yellow creek from which he had just emerged after "one last swim."

Mercer county Coroner Joseph A. Doyle said the victim, a draftsman for the International Business Machine Corp. in Endicott and a former resident of McKees Rocks, Pa., apparently had suffered a heart attack as he stepped from the water to the creek bank.

Howlika was vacationing with his family at a friend's home and was swimming with his wife, and two small sons when he was stricken. He told his wife he was going to "take one last swim" before they returned home.

SAYS BEETLE ZENITH PAST

Harrisburg, Aug. 8 (AP)—The zenith of the 1946 infestation of Japanese beetles in Pennsylvania has passed and the pests have started burrowing into the ground, the state Agriculture Department reported today.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry, urged residents of infested areas to continue their battle against the pest, however, declaring every female beetle killed now means 60 to 100 fewer next season.

He said at the same time recent tests have proved DDT is the best known killer of Japan beetles, replacing baited traps. It can be used safely on garden and ornamental plants in five per cent dust or in special powder forms which mix with water.

The bureau also has distributed more than half a ton of "milky disease" spores in grasslands in Dauphin, Lebanon and Berks counties, the areas of the heaviest infestations this year.

Scattered areas reporting heavy appearances were in the vicinity of Scotland, Franklin county; Ligonier, Westmoreland county; and Towanda, Bradford county.

Sues Former Friend Over 'Shell' House

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (AP)—William B. Bachman, ex-navy lieutenant, wants $1,500 damages from a former friend from whom he purchased a 70-year-old house he says was almost a shell from two much termite turmoil.

Bachman filed suit in the Allegheny county court against Richard J. Cook, publisher of a Pittsburgh news magazine, contending he paid $610 to have the voracious little insects exterminated and that Cook had refused to reimburse him. Bachman said he paid $12,000 for the house.

WHITE BEAUTY IS BRIDE OF FATHER DEVINE

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 (AP)—Father Divine, self-styled "God" and Negro evangelist who assumed the mantle of immortality in 1932 as the leader of a religious cult, married a beautiful, blonde 21-year-old white girl from Montreal last April 29 but he tells shrieking followers it's "in name only."

The marriage to Miss Edna Rose Ritchings in the Washington home of the Rev. Albert L. Shadd, Negro Baptist minister, was revealed yesterday.

Divine entertained members of his cult at a wedding banquet here last night and told the chanting, shrieking guests that his late first wife—Mother Divine—had approved the marriage.

"In Name Only"

License records show that Divine gave his age as 41, his status as widower, his address as Philadelphia. He told his followers his first wife and he were married "on June 6, 1882."

Divine insisted that he placed the spirit of his first wife—described as "an Aunt Jemimah-like woman"—in the person of his second wife and then shouted that the new marriage, like the old one, was "in name only."

"God is not married," he sermonized.

"It's beautiful," "thank you, Father," "it's true," screamed his followers, chanting and singing and clapping their hands.

Bride Is "Sweet Angel"

Divine, whose various properties are known as "heavens" and whose followers take such names as "Prodigal Son," "Tree of Life," "Miss Charity," etc., said he was "not bereaved" over the death of his first wife.

"When Mother Divine seemingly deceased about three or four years ago, her spirit was about me all the time—holly virtue untouched by mortality x x x," he asserted.

The new wife, better known among followers of the cult in Montreal by her spiritual name of "Sweet Angel," formerly worked in a costume jewelry establishment in the Canadian city. Friends said she left Montreal last April.

Mrs. Divine sat unmoved at the wedding banquet occasionally murmuring aloud the word "peace."

"Peace, it's wonderful" is the motto of her husband's cult.

Wedding Speech

The guests ate what followers described as "a small banquet"—four meat courses, chicken, fish, seven vegetables, five kinds of bread, hot biscuits, three ice cream flavors and two cakes, including the wedding cake. ("Big banquets" last more than five hours with as many as 300 courses served, cult members said.)

After the meal, "Miss Charity," one of the bride's secretaries, read what she called the official text of the new wife's wedding speech.

"It is something I never dreamed of but I am glad to know it is an impossibility for God to be bereaved and that He giveth a spirit a body as it pleases him—it was no doing on my part but only by His Grace, His Mercy and His Tender Compassion that He condescended to reincarnate to such a beautiful spirit that would be pleasing in His sight in this body."

The marriage was disclosed in the New Day, newspaper published by the Divine cult. It contained the wedding speech made by the bride and comments by Father Divine himself at a gathering at the Circle Mission church—cult headquarters—here on July 29.

Nazis Were Out To Gather Skulls

Nuernberg, Germany, Aug. 8 (AP)—Letters exposing a gruesome German plan to collect skulls and skeletons of all races for an anatomical institute at Strasbourg were read today at the war crimes trial.

The International Military tribunal was hearing a defense witness, bearded Wolfram Sievers, a high SS officer, but he would not acknowledge the letters.

Major P. Elwyn Jones of the British prosecution staff produced a letter he said Sievers had written to a Doctor Brandt saying:

"We have nearly a complete collection of skulls of all races and peoples at our disposal. Of the Jewish race, however, only a few specimens are available. The war in the east now presents us with an opportunity to overcome this deficiency. By producing the skulls of Jewish-Bolshevik commissars, who represent the prototype of a repulsive but characteristic sub-human, we have a chance to obtain a palpable scientific document."

SET AUG. 20 AS ELECTION DAY FOR PIRATE 9

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—Robert Murphy and his controversial American Baseball Guild took on added stature today in a quest to unionize baseball, bulwarked by a Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board order for a collective bargaining election among team members of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The precedent-setting decision—it's the first of its kind in organized baseball—fixed August 20 for the date of the election at Pittsburgh. Thirty-one Buccos are eligible for the election, the board ruled here yesterday. Murphy has said he already holds Guild membership cards for 26 of them.

The Guild organizer, meanwhile, lauded the board for its "good judgment in holding that baseball players, as any other working or professional men or women, have the right to organize."

Listed as "Commerce"

Spokesmen for the Pirate management "let slide" comment on the order, pointing out a new owner is expected to take over the club Saturday and any "opinion" should come from him.

Citing a 1927 opinion of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, the board classified professional baseball as "commerce" and therefore under the jurisdiction of the 1937 State Labor Relations Act. The court case involved a violation by the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league of the since-amended Pennsylvania "blue laws" for playing on Sunday.

Now is the "most opportune time" to hold the election, the three-man board asserted in rebuffing efforts by the National league club to postpone the election until after the close of the playing season.

Murphy had requested an early election because the players would scatter to their homes in all parts of the country at the end of the season.

Order Appealable

George L. Reed, counsel for the board, explained the order was a "preliminary acceptance of jurisdiction," and that the next step after the election would be a hearing, probably at Pittsburgh, on exceptions that may be filed on the intermediate order.

The final order, he added, will be appealable to the courts.

The PLRB's decision followed a recommendation for the election by Trial Examiner Conrad Cicco who had heard testimony from Murphy and the Pirates' counsel at a hearing in Pittsburgh July 16.

Earlier, the National Labor Relations Board declined jurisdiction and Murphy attempted to call a strike among the Pirates just before a night game in Pittsburgh. A last-minute talk by President Bill Benswanger induced the Bucs to call off the walkout.

Some baseball sources have said, however, the strike threat precipitated the current player-owner conferences on salaries and working conditions.

HAMBLETONIAN SET FOR TODAY

By SID FEDER

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 8 (AP)—The farmer up the road from Bill Cane's Good Time track figures as how "it ain't good hay weather and it ain't good Hambletonian weather," but in spite of his gloomy forecast, the 21st edition of trotting's World Series was expected to get to the post today.

The weather man was more of an optimist than the farmer peering out from his barn. He held out some hope that the storm which forced postponement of the Corn-Tassel classic from yesterday's original date would veer overnight and permit the 11 three-year-old steppers to get on their way in the chase after the $51,845 pot of gold on schedule at 3 p. m. EDT today.

This was post-time for the first of the two or more one-mile heats, and the 25,000 or so fans expected to bulge Cane's kite-shaped plant at the beams figured it's about time. Especially impatient were the hundreds of them already on hand and packing not only every corner of easy-going Goshen, but Newburgh, 22 miles away and Middletown, eight miles off, as well.

More hundreds had come up yesterday by car before learning it was "rain-no game," they figured it might become monotonous if old man weather made them do it again today.

As a matter of fact, the horsemen, too, were rooting to get the thing over with. Their snappy steppers war and in 1942 joined Bob Higgins' varsity staff. McAndrews previously had served as line coach at Dickinson, Lebanon Valley, and Bucknell.

This, of course, wasn't expected to have any effect after only a 24-hour delay, and it was still the three western horses—Chestertown, Victory Song and Westfield Girl—and the fast west-owned filly, Deanna, against the other seven in a wide open merry-go-round.

Says Humans Might Have Survived Bomb

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 (AP)—Human beings possibly could have survived the first atomic bomb blast at Bikini, says Congressman Michael J. Bradley (D.-Pa.).

Bradley, a witness at the first atom test, said the bomb failed to collapse empty five-gallon gasoline tins on the decks of the target ships. Navy physicians said gasoline tins had the same resilience as the human chest.

Today's Talk

ONE WITH THE UNIVERSE

The more we realize that we cannot separate ourselves from the great stream of life, that we cannot live to ourselves alone, nor ignore the forces that weld together all that the universe represents, the more we become one with the universe, as every one of us should.

It is the concern of us all that there are unhealthy conditions in the world, and that each one of us is accountable in some measure, and everything that we can do to alleviate such conditions becomes both our duty and privilege. The world in which we live in indeed One World — our world, and everyone else's world, and we should all pull together to make it the "best of all possible worlds." A world in which justice should be distributed without fear or favor.

We are one with not only those of our kind, but one with those creatures that roam the world of Nature and also one with the world of inanimate things that have only beauty to give — beauty without a voice.

It was because John Muir, the naturalist, was one with the universe that he could go into the mountains, roam the glaciers, and live happily alone for months at a time, without getting lonely. He had friends all about him. Every stir of the foot led him to new interests that gave him ecstatic joy. It was during one of those brief moments that he undoubtedly gained the inspiration to write that beautiful tribute to the water ouzel.

Walking to my Lodge for the night, I viewed a scene that would have been the masterpiece of any artist able to correctly reproduce in color what I saw. The sun had just crept beyond the horizon. A delicate orange-gold hue spread about the hiding blue of the sky. Great streams of greyish shadows spread over the wooded hills beyond. Just below a vast stretch of emerald water swept the lake. Nearer to me another deep ribbon of color, and then, closer still, a shining surface of glass-like water resembling spread silver. It was a thrilling sight. It belonged to me. I owned it, for it convinced me that I was one with the universe, as we all are.

Gaining this knowledge, we grow less selfish, more humanitarian, more respectful for the rights of others, and grow nearer to the source of all creation, and so somehow contact the Infinite Mind!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Afterglow."

Just Folks

The Bishop slyly look at me.
Though dull am I, without a word,
I read what thought his mind has stirred:

And well I know, with rod and reel,
He wants to angle for a meal.

Those eyes of his are blue and clear,
Especially when Friday's near.
They plainly tell he wants to get
A change from beans or omelet.
His smiling face betrays the wish
To catch a few Lake Huron fish.

Oh, there are times I wonder what
He thinks about the human lot!
I see him, somber and sedate,
Observe this world of greed and hate.

But then in silence deep he sinks
And seldom tells me what he thinks.

But Thursday comes, and then I see
The smiling Bishop nearing me.
On such occasions I don't need
My spectacles his mind to read.
"Come drop your work," his twinkles say,
"And let's go fishing in the bay!"

Personal Mention: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Rice, of Biglerville, are spending some time in Niagara Falls. Miss Anne Gilliland, Carlisle street, returned Saturday from a six weeks' stay in Punxsutawney.

SEE TROUBLE IN HANDLING TRIESTE ZONE

By LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, Aug. 8 (AP)—A bitter struggle in the Paris peace conference over the writing of a statute for the proposed international zone of Trieste was forecast today following the disclosure that a special "Big Four" commission had written four separate drafts for submission tomorrow to the 21 conferring nations.

A highly-placed authority, who asked to remain anonymous, said the commission was unable to agree after nearly a month of consultation.

Russians Insist

The principal disagreement, this source said, lay in Russian insistence that the governor of the proposed international zone and representative of the United Nations Security council must be a Yugoslav and that his powers should be as broad as possible.

The informant added that the Americans, British and French maintained that the governor should be neither Yugoslav, Italian, nor an inhabitant of the free zone. All three suggested varying degrees of authority to be furnished the legislative assembly to be elected by direct universal suffrage.

The informant said the commission also was unable to reach agreement on detailed frontiers for the zone and would suggest that the conference appoint a special boundary commission to investigate the matter on the spot.

Detailed Proposal

Detailed boundary proposals were made to the commission by the American and French delegations.

The American draft, by far the most detailed, proposes that:

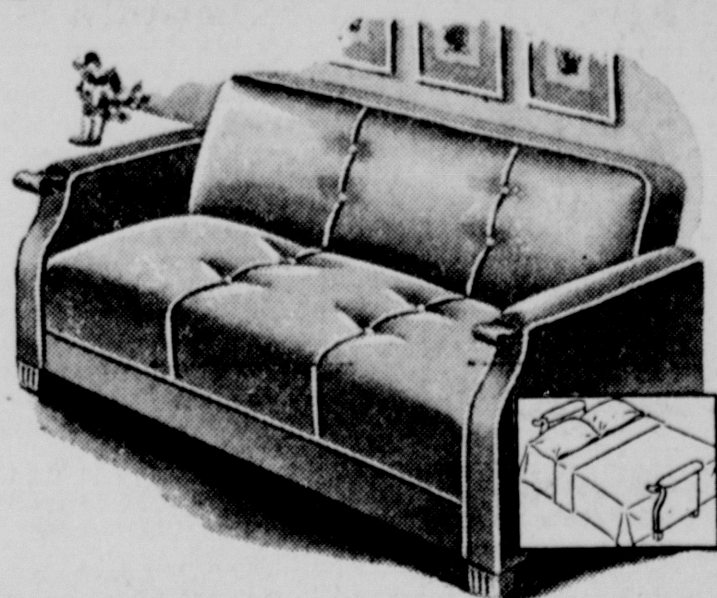

1. The zone's integrity and independence be assured by the United Nations Security council through a governor who will have a police force and coast guard at his disposal.

2. The zone's constitution shall guarantee the right of religion, language, freedom of expression, thought, education and association.

3. The zone shall be administered by a governor appointed by the security council, executive government council and legislative assembly.

CHINA SEEKING TO BLOCK OUTER MONGOLIA MOVE

By GLENN BABB
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

China is giving evidence of disappointment over the fruits of her bargain with Soviet Russia, embodied in the treaty signed the day of Japan's surrender nearly a year ago. She has acted to block the application of outer Mongolia, a Soviet satellite, for membership in the United Nations.

China's recognition of the quarter-century old fact that outer Mongolia had shaken off the ties that had bound her lightly to the Chinese state was one element of the bargain. In return China received Moscow's pledge of aid to be given solely through the national government then at Chungking—to the exclusion of the Chinese communists—and Russian recognition of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria.

From neither of these Russian undertakings has China benefited to any appreciable extent. The pledge to favor the national government as against the communists has been meaningless; there is no conclusive evidence that the communists have received any considerable active Russian support, but neither has Moscow aided Chiang Kai-shek's regime. The communists remain a powerful threat to end Chiang's two decades of rule; the country is torn by strife which threatens to become full scale civil war despite the efforts of the United States, through General George C. Marshall and Ambassador J. Leighton-Stuart, to bring peace and unity.

In Russian Orbit
As for Manchuria, the grip of the communists on the greater part of that once richly developed region has made a travesty of recognition of Chinese sovereignty. The Chinese nationalists have had little good of the fine ports, railways and industries which they hoped to recover when Japan was smashed. The Russians, withdrawing, left little of the great munitions and heavy industry plants the Japanese had built to feed their war machine. Reparations and spoils of war, the Russians said.

This is the background of the Chinese demand in the membership committee of the United Nations security council that the Mongolian application be shelved for at least a year. Russia and Poland had strongly supported the application. The committee agreed to suspend further action until an accredited envoy from Mongolia could be heard. The Chinese pointed out that the Mongolian people's republic—to give it its official name—had no diplomatic relations with any power except the Soviet Union. "She gives no opportunity for the members of the United Nations to know her more intimately," was the Chinese member's oriental phrasing of his objection.

The fact is that outer Mongolia has been firmly in the Russian orbit since 1924, has a government patterned on the Russian model, is tied to Moscow by mutual aid treaty, went into the war with 80,000 men at Russia's heels in the last week of fighting.

Salt Lake City (P) — As he reached the seventh tee at the country club golf course, a Salt Lake City doctor received a hurry-up call from the husband of an expectant mother.

The doctor hustled to the clubhouse, showered and changed, drove to the hospital, delivered the mother, and was back in time to rejoin his foursome at the 11th hole.

Eppley Sisters To Sing Sunday

The Eppley Sisters Gospel Quintette of Manchester, Pa., will appear at the Idaville U. B. church Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. The five sisters render a spiritual program featuring vocal quintettes, soprano and alto solos, artistic piano playing and numbers on the following instruments: vibraphone, violin, electric Hawaiian guitar, saxophone, accordions and cathedral chimes.

Await Action By Local Hosiery Units

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 (P)—A labor-management negotiating committee failed to come to agreement at a hosiery employees wage conference yesterday and an official of the CIO-American Federation of Hosiery Workers announced "the next step is up to the locals."

William Smith, secretary of the union's national board, said representatives of the full-fashioned hosiery manufacturers association and the union, which has 11,000 members, abandoned negotiations.

The union seeks a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase and hourly minimum pay of 87 cents for piecework and 90 cents for hourly-rated workers. The company offered a six-cent boost and minimum pay of 67 cents and 71 cents.

Though the United States population has gone up only 30 per cent in the last 25 years, the amount of life insurance owned has gone up almost 300 per cent and the number of persons who own life insurance 90 per cent.

INJURIES TAKE TOLL OF MANY STAR PLAYERS

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"Old Man Injury" is in his most merciless mood in many a moon today as one by one, key players of Major league baseball teams join already overcrowded hospital lists.

Heading the list of currently ailing non-combatants are such top-notch performers as Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians; Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox; Johnny Mize and Buddy Kerr, New York Giants; Johnny Berardino, St. Louis Browns; Pete Reiser and Harry Lavangetto, Brooklyn Dodgers; Stan Hack, Chicago Cubs and Schoolboy Rowe, of the Phillies.

The absence of Williams, Pesky and Higgins is causing no great alarm on the hub front as the American league leading Red Sox have too commanding a lead with the season two-thirds gone. With the New York Yankees' 4-3 defeat by the Senators in Washington last night, the idle Sox increased their margin over their nearest rivals to 13 full games.

It is an entirely different story with the Dodgers whose National league lead was trimmed to a mere game and a half last night when the challenging St. Louis Cardinals overpowered the last place Pirates 8-1 at Pittsburgh. Two of their regulars, outfielder Pete Reiser and third baseman Harry Lavangetto are out of action with head and leg injuries, respectively, while second baseman Eddie Stanky, bothered by a foot ailment, is playing on nerve alone.

Sox, Browns Win

The Indians fell three and a half games behind the fourth place Senators when the White Sox overcame a 3-0 deficit to nose out the tribe 4-3 in Chicago.

The St. Louis Browns, despite the absence of second baseman Berardino, their leading hitter, edged out the Detroit Tigers 3-2 under the sportsman's park lights.

Rain washed out the scheduled Red Sox-A's double header as well as the Dodgers-Giants contest and the twin bill between the Braves and the Phillies.

ARABS BALK ON LONDON TALKS OF HOLY LAND

Jerusalem, Aug. 8 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British high commissioner, said today that Palestine Arab leaders had turned down an invitation to roundtable talks in London on the future of the Holy Land.

Cunningham's statement said the Arabs had also raised the questions of reported government plans to halt unauthorized Jewish immigration into Palestine and of the release of Arab political prisoners. The statement gave no details on these questions.

(London dispatches said a dramatic government statement or Palestine might be forthcoming within 48 hours. British government sources said yesterday the cabinet was considering far-reaching military plans which might include a tight blockade of the Palestine coast to halt the flow of unauthorized Jewish immigrants and stricter control of displaced persons camps and frontiers in Austria, Germany and Italy to choke the underground pipeline feeding the immigrants into Italian ports.)

Resent Partition

The high commissioner's statement was issued after a 40-minute conference with Jamal Bey Hussein, acting chairman of the Arab Executive who returned from Egypt last night after conferences with Arab leaders.

The Arab rejection of the invitation to the London conferences could not agree to take part in any discussion based on the partition of Palestine.

The possibility of Russia being projected into the situation was seen today in a statement of the Arab office that there was no reason why "America should be a party to the Palestine case and not Russia."

Military authorities were reported to have rescinded an order banning British troops from Jewish night clubs, restaurants and other places of entertainment.

Release 1,700 Jews

The order was issued July 25, three days after the King David Hotel bomb explosion, and was similar to a decree invoked earlier after five British officers were kidnapped at Tel Aviv June 16.

Release of 1,700 Jews, taken into custody by the British June 29 in a roundup of suspected extremists, has been announced by the Palestine

Conservation Of Petroleum Discussed

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 8 (AP)—Representatives from 17 states assembled here today to discuss development and conservation of petroleum resources at the quarterly session of the Interstate Oil compact commission.

Gov. Andrew F. Schoepel of Kansas, former chairman of the commission, praised the group's work since its organization in 1940, declaring:

"On our commission, you'll find Republicans and Democrats work shoulder to shoulder. We don't let politics interfere."

Oklahoma Governor Robert S. Kerr, chairman, convened the opening business sessions today. The meeting closes Saturday with an address by Interior Secretary Julius A. Krug.

American railroads use annually more than 6,000 tons of weed killers on rights-of-way.

government, which said 970 more would be freed in a few days.

Those released had been confined at the Latrun and Rafiah detention camps. A government spokesman denied reports that several of those still detained had been sent to Eritrea.

BATTERED SHIP GETS TO BRITAIN ON OWN POWER

Falmouth, Eng., Aug. 8 (AP)—The collision-battered U. S. Merchant ship American Farmer reached Falmouth today under her own power, safe from the perils of the sea but still the center of a stormy salvage controversy.

Escorted by her sister ship, the America Ranger, the crippled vessel was taken in tow a mile outside the port by the harbor tugs Norgrave and Lynch.

Officials refused to permit newsmen to board the 8,000-ton American Farmer, which had a gaping hole in her port bow to show her collision with the American merchant ship William J. Riddle several hundred miles off the English coast last week.

Crew "Very Decent"

Capt. Oscar Johnson put a skeleton crew from his vessel aboard the Farmer after she had been abandoned by her own crew on the high seas and taken in tow by the 2,000-ton British steamer Elizabeth, which is now claiming salvage rights.

The Elizabeth put into Barry, Wales, 125 miles north of Falmouth, about three hours after the American Farmer arrived here. Newsmen were permitted to board her and a member of the Elizabeth's crew said that the Ranger's crew was "very decent about it" when they took over the Farmer.

Seamen from the Ranger hung over the rail of the Farmer as this correspondent circled her in a harbor tug. To a shouted query to whether they had any trouble when they took over the ship from the Elizabeth the American seamen shouted back:

"None at all."

Salvage Claim Filed

"We're going to claim this ship," they added, when asked whether the American Ranger would contest the Elizabeth's salvage claim.

Seas washed through the 20-foot hole in the bow of the Farmer as she lurched into safe waters against a strong southwesterly wind. She was down by the bows but the stars and stripes fluttered from her stern.

The British ministry of transport has filed a salvage claim against the Farmer and her cargo, valued at a total of $4,500,000. The U. S. lines have offered to post cash security against salvage claims.

STATE GETS LAND

Washington, Aug. 8 (AP)—Legislation returning to the state of Pennsylvania a plot of land at the bottom of the Delaware near Chester has been signed by President Truman. The land, 200 by 400 feet in area, was formerly the site of the Chester range front light. The light was moved during the war to permit expansion of the Sun shipbuilding and dry dock company facilities.

Claim Warehouses Filled With Food

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (AP)—Declaring grocers' shelves are emptying while warehouses are crammed with canned food, Pittsburgh wholesale food merchants and brokers today looked to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for help in speeding up disclosure of new OPA ceiling prices.

The Pittsburgh food advisory committee branded OPA policies as dilatory at a meeting yesterday and said the stored food could not leave warehouses until new prices are established.

The committee demanded the U. S. Department of Agriculture make an attempt to have OPA ceilings set before the scheduled date of August 21.

An official of a large wholesale firm operating in Pennsylvania and West Virginia told the Federal production and marketing administration: "We have carload upon carload of canned goods coming in that we have no idea what we can do with."

New Device Finds Heart Diseases Early

Philadelphia, Aug. 8 (AP)—Temple university medical school announces development of a revolutionary device—the electrokymograph—which will permit doctors to detect heart disease in its early stages.

Dr. Bert B. Boone of Schwenksville, Pa., who has worked on the instrument for the past two years in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health service, said the electrokymograph permits the doctor to accurately photograph the motions of the heart. He said that previous lack of such pictures had hampered early diagnosis of the ailment.

MORE CEILING PRICES GO UP ON FOODSTUFFS

Washington, Aug. 8 (AP)—OPA removed price controls on fresh red sour cherries today as ceilings went up one to two cents on canned peas, corn, tomatoes and tomato products.

Most sour cherries are sold for processing, OPA said. Products made from them remain under ceilings.

The vegetable price increases authorized by OPA yesterday result from elimination of subsidy payments. These amounted to $39,200,000 during the fiscal year 1946.

Ceiling Off Window Washing

The off setting price boosts are two cents on No. 2 cans of peas and tomatoes, one cent on corn and tomato juice and one cent on 12-ounce packages of frozen corn and peas.

Also up one cent are 14-ounce containers of catsup and six-ounce cans of tomato paste.

Aside from the food actions, OPA removed price controls on charges for window washing and for the cleaning of building exteriors and floors.

The agency also discontinued ceilings on charges for water softening and for contract janitorial service.

Motions of the heart on a fluorescent screen, Dr. Boone said. These are converted into light impulses by means of a photo-electric cell, acting like the human eye. Any abnormal impulse will lead to discovery of heart disease, he pointed out.

Turn To New Bids For UN Acceptance

New York, Aug. 8 (AP)—The United Nations membership committee turned today from the unsettled controversies arising over applications of Soviet-supported Albania and outer Mongolia to the first of six other bids for admission which are less likely to cause widespread friction.

First up for consideration at closed meetings today and tomorrow was the kingdom of Afghanistan, which stands as a buffer between India and the Soviet Union and commands a lofty interior beyond the celebrated Khyber pass.

The committee undertook a schedule of two sessions daily to meet on Aug. 20 deadline for a report to the security council, which will pass its recommendations on to the general assembly in September. Membership is awarded by two thirds vote of the assembly, but only after the applicants are approved in the security council, where the veto works as a black-bail.

News Of Special Interest To The Residents Of Emmitsburg And Vicinity

150 AT POMONA GRANGE SESSION AT EMMITSBURG

One hundred and fifty members of the Frederick County Pomona Grange, meeting at the Emmitsburg high school Saturday in the regular quarterly session of the organization, studied resolutions dealing with roads, safety measures and similar problems concerning the welfare of the general public and the farmer.

The resolutions, after further study by the executive and legislative committees of the grange will be sent to the next session of the Maryland Legislature with the hope of obtaining laws embodying the requests in the resolutions. All of the eleven Granges comprising the Frederick county Pomona were represented at the session.

All of the granges announced plans to have exhibits in the Frederick Fair the first week of October, and the majority of the granges announced plans to hold individual community shows this fall. Plans were announced for a song service to be conducted August 25 at Braddock Heights with music by a recently organized glee club and a talk by Dr. James B. Ranck.

Plan State Meeting
Albert S. Goss, National Grange Master, is being sought as speaker for the annual banquet of the Pomona to be held October 29, the members were told, and the Pomona appointed a committee to act with the state Grange to arrange for the annual meeting of the state group in Frederick in December. Members of that committee included Mrs. Charlotte Fry, Mrs. Austin P. Renn, L. H. Crickenberger and Tobias E. Zimmerman, the Pomona master.

Attendance banners were won Saturday, jointly by New Market and Ballenger. Mrs. Robert Fite, home economics chairman, submitted her report, and in the "Kitchen curtain contest," Thurmont, Lewis-town and Middletown placed in that order. Judges were Mrs. Mary Boyle, Mrs. O. H. Stinson and Mrs. Esther Berton. Winners of the safety essay contest were Elizabeth Derr, Ballenger, first in county and state; Leroy Bural, New Market, second in county and state; Barbara Young, Middletown, third in county and fourth in state; and Mildred Snyder, Thurmont, fourth in county. Prizes are offered by county, state and National Granges.

There was a very good youth representation and the young group has planned an extensive program of fall and winter activities.

To Choose Officers
The Lecturer's Hour featured a literary program and also included trumpet solos by Dr. W. A. R. Bell, accompanied by Mrs. Bell, Lewis-town; vocal solos by Richard Fisher, Thurmont, and remarks upon the value of dairies and dairy herds by Dr. Cairns, of the Dairy Department, University of Maryland Extension Service. Other guests included State Secretary and Mrs. Herbert Snyder, of Carroll county.

The next quarterly meeting of Pomona will be held the first Saturday in November, place to be announced. Election and installation of officers will take place at that session.

LEWIS TAKES FIRST ROUND

Washington, Aug. 8 (AP)—The government today officially awarded to John L. Lewis the opening round in his fight to unionize mine foremen.

President Truman and the wage stabilization board approved a contract covering 136 supervisory workers at four Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation "captive" mines in western Pennsylvania.

It was the first such contract in the mining industry.

The agreement was negotiated by Adm. Ben Moreell, who has been running the nation's bituminous mines since the government seized them May 22 in an effort to end the coal strike.

The shutdown was terminated a week later by an agreement between Lewis and Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug which gave Lewis' 400,000 striking soft coal miners an 18 1/2 cent hourly wage boost and a five cent tax on every ton of coal mined for a health and welfare fund. Settlement of the foreman controversy was left to procedures and decisions of the national labor relations board.

The Morell agreement on the Jones and Laughlin supervisors was the outgrowth of that arrangement. Lewis' branch of the united mine workers for supervisory workers was certified as the bargaining agent for the Jones and Laughlin foremen.

SEEK TO AVERT POWER STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (AP)—Union and company representatives were summoned today to begin contract negotiations which Pittsburghers hope will avert another power strike by the independent union of employees of the Duquesne Light Co.

The decision to open discussions on the union's demand for a 20 per cent wage boost stemmed from a two-hour conference between the disputants yesterday with Mayor David L. Lawrence. After the session, Lawrence declared: "I have gotten the parties together, which is at least a start. I hope it will bear fruit."

Earlier, company executives were said by Union President George L. Mueller to have refused to meet with unionists. Mueller described as a "smoke-screen" a company offer to submit to arbitration the question of whether a blanket contract for all 3,500 employees should be negotiated instead of nine separate contracts. The company has contended the national labor relations board has endorsed the principle of separate contracts for Duquesne employees.

Two of the contracts have expired and the others run out August 31, the date on which the strike notice filed by the union also expires.

BLUE LAWS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (AP)—Pennsylvania's revitalized blue laws—vintage of 1794—will require Pittsburgh night spots to shut off the entertainment when they stop selling drinks at midnight on Saturdays. The city law department advised city council to that effect after night club owners sought a later curfew on music and entertainment. The state Legislative in 1939 re-passed an ancient act banning sabbath revelry.

WOMAN LAWYER DIES

Bradford, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Friday for Miss Katherine T. Burke, McKean county's first woman lawyer, who died Tuesday at the home of a brother, Martin J. Burke, with whom she lived. Miss Burke was admitted to the county bar in 1915.

Someone To Believe In

By Helen R. Woodward

Chapter 20
It was Morica, the dancer, and a crowd of kindred spirits she said she had brought to cheer Rocky up. "I'm sure we must have bored him to death!" Grace Frederick remarked with a grimace.
The spell of peacefulness and calm was rudely shattered with the advent of this crowd and from the frown between Rocky's brows Greer could guess his displeasure. But Morica chose to ignore all this and ran into the house very much as if she were quite at home, to put on her bathing suit. Greer, left alone with Rocky for a moment on the terrace, knew that whatever magic moment she had been anticipating at time of departure would not happen now. She did not know whether to be glad or disappointed.
"We've got to be getting back now, Rocky—and I just want to tell you that I can never thank you enough for—for the lovely time we've had." His dark eyes were intent on her face as if whether she liked it or not he was determined to read her innermost thoughts.
"Will you come again, Greer?"
"I'd like very much."
His hand closed over hers warmly and she could not deny that he had come to have a definite place in her life. That no matter what fate had in store for her in the future it would all be mixed up with Rocky Alverson and his house and his desire to give her pleasure and comfort. For the first time, she clung a little to his hand, and saw a look of fire leap in his eyes at the pressure of her fingers and it was with a feeling of breathlessness that she pulled her hand gently away.
She went upstairs for her bag. Morica, from a small room at the back of the house, called to her. "Come here a moment, Greer. I want to show you something."
The room was a small den or study which Greer had not had occasion to enter. Morica, standing by a desk, looked startling and exotic in a wide striped bathing suit and a swathing white cap. With a little cry of delight, Greer realized that this was her father's desk—the one Rocky had bought at the auction—and she ran over to it to slip her hand lovingly over its surface as over the face of an old friend. But Morica was not interested in showing her the desk, having had no way of knowing that it might mean anything to Greer. She held in her hand a small, beautifully framed photograph which she had evidently just removed from its place on the desk.
"I thought you might be interested in seeing this," she said, a gleam of malicious fire in her eyes—the tense, waiting look of an animal about to leap on its prey. Greer took the picture and looked into the smiling face—saw that it was the likeness of a girl, gentle, sensitive and beautiful. "How lovely! Who is it?"
Morica's lips were smiling now, tauntingly. "Why, didn't you know? That's a picture of Ellen—Rocky Alverson's wife!"
Driving back to town in Harriet's shining car, Greer tried to straighten out her confused thoughts. So Rocky Alverson had a wife! Well, why shouldn't he? He had never said he hadn't!
A sick disappointment washed through her body. For a little while she had thought Rocky might be someone really to believe in!
She heard Isobel's chatter as if from a distance. Harriet was evidently absorbed in some problem of her own, but at last Isobel's words penetrated Greer's consciousness. Isobel was saying, "I think he's the most marvelous man in the world!"

She said it softly, as if speaking of a god, and without asking, Greer knew she spoke of Rocky. Startled, her glance traveled from Isobel's flushed, radiant face to Harriet's unperturbed countenance. She seemed totally unaware of what Isobel was saying.
"She's infatuated with him!" Greer thought, appalled. "Oh, dear! Why did I ever suggest taking her!" But she soon forgot Isobel in her own gloomy contemplations.
She could not, however, forget Isobel in the days that followed. For the girl seemed to emerge from the cocoon that had surrounded her. She began to take an interest in clothes, and Harriet supplied them with the relieved feeling that maybe Isobel was human after all!
"I believe Stephen has been good for her!" she confided to Greer. "At least he seems to understand her better than I ever did. It's too bad when a child is deprived of her father—"

Greer looked at Harriet in surprise. It was the first time she had ever spoken what might be called a word of approval for her former husband. But with a feeling of dismay, she reflected that Stephen might not be altogether responsible for his daughter's changed outlook.
She was sure of it when she found out that Isobel was making it a habit to show up at the club where Rocky played golf almost every afternoon with Buzzy Barton or Allan Frederick. Rocky usually bought her a drink and drove her home. One afternoon as Greer walked along the street near Harriet's apartment she was startled to see them pass her in the long low car. Isobel's young face, looking surprisingly lovely, was turned up to the man's dark smiling one, and she was laughing. Greer had never seen her look so gay, so entirely happy. A totally new feeling swept over Greer—a feeling compounded of anger, apprehension and amazement—and something indefinite—gloating, shaking.
"Well, wasn't this just what might be expected of a man of Rocky Alverson's breeding, she thought furiously. And hadn't she brought it all on by insisting on taking Isobel out to Rocky's? Now they were apparently all in for it, from the look on Isobel's face.
By the time Greer reached the apartment building, Rocky had driven away and Isobel, wearing a happy, uplifted look, was just going into the building. Greer called to her and Isobel, stopping to wait for her, was suddenly hot with embarrassment. Evidently she had not expected to be caught up with so soon! She stood there looking like a delighted wicked culprit, but there was a defiant look in her eyes as well.

Ohio Editor Sees Lessons To Be Gleaned From Study Of Lincoln And Gettysburg

"The visit to this great national shrine filled me with an inspiring devotion to our great country which produced so many heroes of the past and present, much like attending a great religious service with one with devotion to our God and our faith," writes Carl Baker, editor of The Tiro World, published at Tiro, Ohio, in his newspaper following a recent visit to Gettysburg.

Mr. Baker says in his article that he believes that all citizens "ought to make frequent pilgrimages to the great Meccas of our history that we too may take increased devotion to our cause that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth. Writing of Gettysburg, he says:

"A visit to Gettysburg is a sermon on patriotism.

"July 1, 1863, General Buford of the Union Army and General Hill of the Confederate Army started the great battle on the fields of Gettysburg at 5:30 a. m. For three days the great armies of Lee and Meade fought over the streets of the town, the surrounding fields, woods and hills, making history to the tune of death and destruction. After the famous charge of the Confederate men under General Pickett had failed to win the battle for the South, the forces of General Lee retreated and soon afterwards the army of General Meade followed into Virginia. Then the doctors and nurses, the burial crews and salvage squads took over. After months of work the most obvious of the scars of battle had been removed. The wounded had either recovered or died. The hospitals had been moved and then came that great day when President Abraham Lincoln came to Gettysburg on November 19, 1863, and delivered the now famous address memorialized by so many school children and carved on so many stones throughout the land.

First Visit Here
"July 14 in the quiet of a lovely summer day it was my privilege to visit for the first time this great battle field. Many other citizens were here on the same pilgrimage. No shots disturbed the quiet peace of the Sunday afternoon as we trod the hallowed soil or rode by the various positions marked by monuments to the 150,000 men in Blue and Gray who had manned them. There were no fresh or open graves in the cemetery around the spot where Lincoln stood as we surveyed the cemetery site. Neither the fierce yells of the charging Confederates nor the sorrowful notes of the funeral dirge sounded on that Sunday. They were consigned alike to that oblivion which time brings to all scenes and we could only reconstruct in our imagination the events which took place here in July and November of 1863.

"The lessons of history we studied so many times in our school days fitted into the landscape and if we could forget the modern autos nearby and the occasional airplane above we could almost see the battle lines, the smoking cannons then so potent as weapons of death although today they would compare to a modern artillery piece like an Indian bow and arrow compared to them. We could almost hear the Rebel yells and the Yankee cheers that accompanied the charges and counter charges. The figures on the thousands of monuments seemed to live again amid the turmoil and like it does on the great painting in the cyclorama the battle spread before us.

Lincoln's Address
"Again in imagination we could see the crowd of war weary people who gathered in the new-made cemetery on that bleak November day. People who stood nearby the graves of sons or brothers, husbands or sweethearts as they came to the dedication ceremony. Perhaps the thoughts of many wandered to the battlefield of Virginia where other loved ones were even then in battle in the great fratricidal conflict. Few perhaps were listening when the President started speaking. In the hearts of many present burned a hatred of the man whom they somewhat blamed for the war and its hardships. Others had heard or repeated slanderous lies about the tall gaunt man who spoke so briefly.

"None recognized in the few words of the President's address the greatest speech of the generation. Like the others the President too returned to Washington convinced he had failed to deliver the goods. His speech would not score, Mr. Lincoln told a friend.

"What a tragedy it often is that the great values which history reveals are the just attributes of contemporary men, and events are hidden from our view. So it was with President Lincoln who died not knowing his speech of that November afternoon would live as long as would the nation he had struggled so to preserve.

"In like manner the many men who died in that battle of July 1, 2 and 3, 1863, never knew what came of their sacrifice. Stricken Confederate soldiers who fell with General Armistead on the crest of Cemetery Ridge at the farthest point of the Confederate attack thought the victory was theirs. Union men who died even at the time of the destruction of General Pickett's forces had no idea of the great victory their lives were sacrificed for.

Lessons From Gettysburg

"Indeed it was not clear on the night of July 3 just what was the final result of the day's battle. And this is one of the great lessons we can learn from Gettysburg. We cannot today see the distant steeples; if we do our best today as duty calls us we can trust that tomorrow we will have our reward even though we do not know its extent.

"To me it seems that another lesson that we can see in those memorable events is that the final outcome was as it was to have been. Time after time the well laid plans of General Lee, the greatest general of his day, went astray for unaccountable reasons. Time after time victory seemed to be snatched from his forces. Perhaps it was so ordered by that Greater Power who knew of the endless wars and conflicts which might have occurred between the Union and the Confederacy had the tide of battle at Gettysburg resulted in the establishment of two nations where now we have but one."

American Legion Joins Safety Drive

Harrisburg, Aug. 8 (AP)—Joining in a state-wide drive to reduce highway death tolls James P. Murray, state commander of the American Legion has asked all motorists to guard against carelessness on the roads.

He predicted that at the present rate of highway accidents there would be 38,000 persons killed and 1,300,000 injured in the nation during 1946.

Denver, (AP)—Fireman Warren Hayes was washing dishes in the firehouse kitchen when the alarm rang. Without regard for soap-suds-covered hands, Hayes sprang to the pole. He set a decent record and wrenched his back—but he went out with the fire truck.

GIRLS' CAMP ENDS SEASON

Camp El-Wa-Ho, Waynesboro's Girl Scout camp, closed its fourth season Sunday, after enjoying the largest attendance in its history.

Open for a six-weeks' period this summer, the camp was under the direction of Miss Marion Tupper, of York Springs.

Since many towns in the area have no Girl Scout camp, an invitation was extended this year to these towns and many accepted. Girls from the following towns were registered:

Chambersburg, Mercersburg, Shippenburg, York Springs, New Oxford, Mt. Airy, Md., Thurmport, Emmitsburg, Walkersville, Annandale, Va., Alexandria, Va., and Fairfax, Va.

The camp experienced an almost perfect health record for the season with only six girls checked by a doctor while in camp.

Other staff members at the camp included: J. Larry Palmer, water-front director, and "Ottie" Mitchell, assistant; Miss Marie Lawson, of Uniontown, Md., and Miss Kathleen Conrad, McSherrystown, unit leaders; Miss Janet Wood, Huntingdon, counselor, Miss Constance Wilson, Imperial, Pa., and Miss Mary Lynn of Yatesboro, Pa., camp dietitians; Jean Stottmeyer, Lois Rinehart, of Waynesboro, and Marjorie Stroup, of Mercersburg, program aides. Nurses during the season were Mrs. Maurice Gjesdahl, Mrs. R. L. Weyant, of Waynesboro, and Mrs. Emma Riggs, of Smithsburg.

"Bouncing Baby" Lives Up To Name

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—Michel Glass, 17 months old, proved her right yesterday to the title of "bouncing baby girl."

Clad in a diaper, she climbed on a chair, pushed a screen out and fell 16 feet from a second-story window. She hit the door of an open cellar way, bounced to a concrete sidewalk and rolled to the lawn. And wasn't even scratched!

The word fossil is derived from the Latin word meaning to dig.

Truckload Of Lumber Runs Wild On Hill

Erie, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—Roscoe Beardsley of Cory couldn't do much about it when his six-ton truck, loaded with lumber, started to run away on Parade Street hill, but he did stick with it on a wild 20-block ride, honking his horn and yelling warnings to all in his path.

The truck went through a stop light, hit two cars, carrying both along, and wound up against a pole.

Beardsley went to Hamot hospital with several broken ribs and a possible fracture of the right leg.

CONFESSION BY HEIRENS TAKEN

Chicago, Aug. 8 (AP)—The incredible criminal career of William Heirens, 17-year-old self-confessed triple slayer with a rare dual personality, was in the records of the state's attorney's office today and the fiendish murders of Suzanne Degnan and two Chicago women were solved.

The dark-visaged university student, calmly and without hesitation, for more than 14-hours Tuesday related and reenacted in full details of the three brutal killings. Law enforcement officials expressed amazement at the matter-of-fact relation of the crimes by the mild-mannered University of Chicago sophomore.

Officials, headed by State's Attorney William J. Tuohy, questioned the youth, whom police termed one of the most notorious criminals in Chicago history, about the three killings and 29 burglaries, robberies and assault with which he is charged.

At 2 a. m. (CST) after he had signed the voluminous statements relating the three slayings, he was led into his cell at the county jail.

The end of the interrogation and the retracing of his movements at the scenes of his more atrocious crimes climaxed nearly six weeks of intensive investigation by officials seeking to connect the youth with the kidnap-killing last January 7 of the six-year-old Degnan child;

MORE SHIRTS, SHORTS SOON

Washington, Aug. 8 (AP)—A spokesman for retail clothing merchants said wistfully today that higher textile prices may put $2.25 shirts and 79-cent shorts back on store shelves. "That's our hope," said Louis Rothschild, executive director of the national association of retail clothiers.

He told a reporter that the average 16 per cent increase in cotton textile ceilings put into effect by OPA yesterday "undoubtedly will encourage greater production" of cotton apparel.

"Manufacturers will have an incentive to produce shirts to retail at $2.25 and shorts at 79 cents," Rothschild said. "We haven't had any of those in a long time."

Up to now, Rothschild added, the lipstick slaying of Miss Frances Brown, 33-year-old former WAVE, on last December 10, and the fatal stabbing on June 3, 1945, of Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43-year-old widow.

manufacturers have not been able to make a profit on these lower-priced items. He said they should begin to re-appear in stores in about 30 days.

OPA said the 16 per cent textile increase will boost cotton clothing prices six to eight per cent and jump the cost of household linens about 17 per cent. Rothschild, however expressed belief the OPA clothing price estimate is "on the conservative side."

KAGAWA WORKS FOR REVIVAL OF CHRISTIANITY

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo (AP)—Toyohiko Kagawa, 58-year-old Christian minister, is probably the most active Japanese of the occupation — vigorously pushing plans ranging from a great Christian revival throughout Japan to solving food shortages.
Impartial observers say the energetic little man retains great influence although some of his wartime speeches were considered abroad as jingoistic.
Early in the occupation he told me in an interview that he hated the word "defeat" because "I am a Japanese."
Giving Lectures
Intimates say Kagawa's dominant interest at the moment is his three-year "all Japan Christian evangelist campaign" which began September 6 as a nation-wide attempt to spread Christianity.
Kagawa currently is touring the country giving a series of Christian lectures including a special Christian service in Tokyo. He also is working to restore an estimated 500 Christian churches which were burned out during the war.
Simultaneously, he is furthering his long-held dream for a series of cooperatives directly linking producer and consumer which he says is the only method of insuring adequate food for Japan.
Kagawa holds the position of adviser to the Social Democratic party, which he helped to found, and heads the "Cooperative Unions federation." He recently was appointed a member of the House of Peers, the second chamber of Japan's Diet.
Has Heavy Schedule
The Welfare ministry a short time ago adopted Kagawa's plan for unemployment insurance, and the Japan Educators' Union recently named him as its chairman despite his protests that he was too old and ill.
He is editor and publisher of the weekly Japan Christian newspaper and is president of the "Internation-

NEXT CONGRESS FACES UNSOLVED S. S. PROBLEMS

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington (AP)—The difference between Joe and John is one of Washington's unsolved problems. The 79th Congress tried to unravel it. Now it goes on to the 80th Congress.

Joe is under the Social Security program. His old age is secure.

John works, but not at a "covered" job. He's not building up any insurance with the government for his old age.

What is the answer? The 80th Congress will confront a decision next January on what, if any, new measure of protection millions of citizens can expect from government.

Unsolved Questions

The Social Security revision bill which threw the last days of the 79th Congress into turmoil, failed to solve many of the major problems bedeviling the security program.

These questions went unanswered:

1. Will the old age and survivors insurance program continue to exclude some 20,000,000 spinfully employed Johns, without affording protection to some 30,000,000 Joe's?

2. Shall the government broaden the security program to embrace protection against the hazards of disability and sickness? The program now is confined to protecting persons in "covered employment" against poverty in old age and during limited periods of unemployment.

3. What will Congress do about increasing the payroll tax to assure the future solvency of the security fund?

Ignored Recommendation

Congress employed a special staff that studied Social Security problems for many months and turned in a 750 page report. Long public hearings were held by the House Ways and Means committee.

The staff, headed by Leonard J. Calhoun, recommended that the security tax be increased January 1 from one per cent to 1.5 per cent, on employees' pay and employers' payrolls. But Congress froze the tax for the eighth consecutive year at one per cent.

This staff analyzed means of bringing under the old age and survivors insurance the 20,000,000 persons not now covered — agricultural workers, self employed, domestic workers and employees of federal state and local governments.

But the bill that went to the White House did not deal with expanded coverage.

Three in Five Covered

A separate bill proposing health insurance — vigorously backed by President Truman but attacked by opponents as "socialized medicine" — never came to a vote.

The big problem before Congress is to get more equity into the security program. The solution is beset by a confusion of categories.

A worker in one type of job — that's Joe — pays a tax on his pay. His employer pays a similar tax on his payroll. The worker, when he grows old, is entitled to retirement pay based on the wages received in productive years. If he dies his family is entitled to survivors' insurance. Joe and his employer paid for this protection.

John, another worker — on a farm, self employed, in domestic service, or employed by a federal, state or local government — pays no security tax; his employer pays none. When he is old he is entitled to no retirement pay. (Although if he is destitute he can get relief payments in which the federal and state governments participate.)

Only three of every five jobs are "covered employment" for old age insurance. That's where "categories" come in.

STATE WORKERS GET PAY HIKES

Harrisburg, Aug. 8 (AP)—A five-to-15 per cent pay increase to nearly 41,000 state workers based on their September 1942 salaries satisfied demands of one union today but of another—which has threatened a strike—said its membership would decide the question.

The AFL-Pennsylvania council of public employees said after Governor Martin announced the general wage increase yesterday that the new salary schedule was "a satisfactory settlement of its demands."

That union presented a petition for a 20 per cent increase last March, embodying in it also a "no strike" pledge.

However, in Pittsburgh, Jack Strobel, regional director of the CIO-United Public Workers of America, said a meeting of the local membership would be called to decide whether the pay boost will avert a strike of State Liquor store clerks in Pittsburgh scheduled for Oct. 2.

Martin has said a strike of state employees will not be tolerated.

Questions Pending

Strobel said the pay increase solved part of the liquor store employees' wage problems but that still pending are questions of annual increments for chief clerks and store managers, similar to that which clerks now receive and upgrading classifications for chief clerks and managers in the lower wage brackets.

Strobel added that those and other problems now are under consideration by the Liquor Control board.

Martin said the salary boost, with the largest increase in the lower brackets, would raise the Commonwealth's payroll $7,000,000 to $8,000,000. The boost established a new minimum of $1,428 for state employees. The previous minimum was $1,278.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Baker announce the birth of a son at the Hanover hospital. This is the first child of the couple. His wife is the former Miss Mary L. Noel, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Noel.

Miss Mary Wagner, R.N., who, with her family, has been spending the summer at their Dicks' Dam cottage, recently had as a guest there Lt. Eleanor Mundi, stationed at the Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C.

It is planned that a group of local men be formed into a class for instruction in the operation of the new resuscitator which has been purchased by the Lions club for the use of victims in this section.

Mrs. Paul Sneeringer, who was removed to the Hanover hospital shortly after the birth of her daughter Mary Ann, has returned home. Marcia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Wagner, York, was a recent guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Ambrose P. Wagner, and family, at their Dicks' Dam cottage.

During the absence of the Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, who has been visiting the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, Quebec, Canada, a Jesuit Father from the seminary at Woodstock, Md., was here to take charge of some of the services at the church.

Likens Lobbyists To Plague Of Locusts

Meadville, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP)—Lobbyists and agents have moved into Washington "like a plague of locusts" and "tampered with members of Congress," Governor Martin said Wednesday.

"We have a right to be alarmed," he declared, "by the reports of the enormous expense accounts of the lobbyists and agents who have been going to Washington to use influence in getting contracts and other favors."

In an address prepared for delivery before the Crawford county republican committee, the governor asserted "government by bureaucracy has made it easy for them."

Martin, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, added that all citizens have a right to know everything about the government and "there should be nothing secret about the financial affairs of this

Mrs. J. Arthur Donohue has been spending a time in Philadelphia to visit her husband who is employed there. Their son, Robert, formerly of the Marine Corps, who was a patient at the Philadelphia Naval hospital, has return to town.

Mrs. Charles L. Eicholtz was hostess Tuesday evening when the local Garden club met at her home.

● A recent development in medical research is said definitely to cure malaria, long a scourge in certain sections of the country. Three small pills a day for five days and symptoms disappear.

It is also claimed that four pills a week during the malarial season will serve to prevent the malady. All of the fruits of medical research are available to you through your family physician. A change must be made, the governor said, and the only way to wipe out "the accumulation of 14 years of hypocrisy" in Washington is by a change in political control.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8 (AP)—Harry S. Kelly, railroad engineer for 55 years, died of a heart attack in the cab of his locomotive Monday on the Monongahela connecting railroad of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

An employe of the railroad since he was 18, the 74-year-old man had operated an engine an estimated 1,000,000 miles over the 35-mile track connecting Second Avenue and South Side piers.

GOVERNMENT IN CAMPBELL STRIKE THREAT

Camden, N. J., Aug. 8 (P)—The Federal government stepped into the Campbell soup company strike picture today in an effort to avert a walkout of 8,000 CIO workers Monday that might result in spoilage of a $4,900,000 tomato crop in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Peter J. Manno of the U. S. Conciliation service sits down at a hastily-called conference with Campbell officials and representatives of Local 80, food, tobacco and agricultural workers (CIO) to try to settle a dispute involving union demands for a closed shop and preferential hiring in all Campbell plants.

Anthony J. Valentino, business agent for Local 80, insisted there could be "no compromise" and told newsmen bluntly:

"Strike Begins Monday"

"The strike begins at 5 a. m. Monday. We spent yesterday afternoon instructing 40 strike captains in their duties."

William Hoerle, Campbell vice president in charge of production, heads the management negotiators. He said the company has rejected the closed shop because the union showed "complete lack of responsibility" in threatening to strike during the existence of a contract.

The contract expires March 1, 1947, Hoerle said, and contains a "no strike" clause. Valentino claims the company violated the pact, thus terminating it automatically.

The strike, if it goes on as scheduled, threatens a third of the Pennsylvania-New Jersey tomato crop—140,000 tons.

Lester Jones of Medford, N. J., president of the New Jersey-Pennsylvania tomato growers co-operative association, said the 3,000 tomato growers in the area insist that the dispute be settled by arbitration.

ARMY TO TEST NEW UNIFORMS

Washington, Aug. 8 (P)—The army has authorized blue winter, off-post uniforms for officers and enlisted men, but it is in a tizzy over what shade of blue the American public would prefer.

Determined that the defenders of national security shall be second to none in sartorial smartness, the army just can't decide whether the uniforms shall be solid color or two-tone—that is, dark coats and light trousers.

And so—it is going to ask the public to do some observing and reacting this fall when soldiers will wear sample uniforms at public gatherings.

This will be preceded by surveys in several army camps in which teams will demonstrate sample uniforms. In addition to dressing up the soldier in blue, the army is considering replacing the olive drab and khaki Wac uniforms with one of a more vital green. It would be worn with russet accessories.

The new blue uniform for men will be the same for officers and enlisted personnel with the exception of insignia. Before the war blue dress uniforms were authorized for officers only.

The proposed blues include an overcoat and a cape, the latter with bright colored linings.

Commuter Dresses On Station Platform

New Hope, Pa., Aug. 8 (P)—It was less than two minutes to train time when an automobile raced up to the platform of the Reading company's New Hope station.

A middle-aged man, clad only in underwear, gartered socks and shoes, jumped out. With a quick glance at the Philadelphia-bound commuter's train, he reached into the auto, pulled out a pair of pants and put them on.

Next he struggled into a shirt, fumbling momentarily with the buttons. Then he grabbed his tie and suit coat, slammed the car door and ran for the train.

He made it amid cheers of other passengers.

46,000 BRIDES

Washington, Aug. 8 (P)—The Justice department said today 46,000 GI brides plus 12,000 of their children have entered the United States. The largest number—over 22,000—came from England.

Abbottstown—St. Mary's Catholic church held its annual picnic in the grove Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Zeigler spent the week-end in Hershey.

Mrs. Hattie Davis, York, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Butt.

Mrs. Homer Hafer and Mrs. Charles Grim were hostesses to a number of ladies Wednesday night for a brush demonstration.

CARPENTER KILLED

Pottstown, Pa., Aug. 8 (P)—A 17-foot fall from a scaffold at nearby Linfield proved fatal Tuesday to Harry R. Gerth, 44-year-old Birdsboro (Pa.) carpenter. Gerth was working on a building under construction at the Linfield plant of the Kinsey distilling Corp.

Aldus Manutius of Venice invented the type in 1470.

THRILL IS GONE

Seattle, Aug. 8 (P)—Mrs. Laura G. Riddell, the 92-year-old "flying grandmother" of Muncy, Pa., arrived here Tuesday night by air liner on her sixth cross country flight and remarked: "I like it fine, but I just don't get excited about flying any more." Since she started flying at about the age of 80, she has flown over much of Europe as well as the United States.

17 MILLION VETS

Washington, Aug. 8 (P)—The service population of the nation has passed the 17,000,000 mark for the first time. As of July 31, the Veterans Administration reported today, 17,240,000 veterans were listed on its rolls. This compares with the previous high of 16,336,000 a month earlier and 6,712,000 at the end of July, 1945.

GRANDAD'S NAME DOES THE TRICK

Meadville, Pa., Aug. 8 (P)—The name "Zenas" was the password which restored 86-year-old John L. Bleasdale of Ashland, Mass., to the bosom of his family here Tuesday night after an absence of 52 years.

There was, naturally, some doubt on both sides as Bleasdale greeted the son he had left as a mere child in a Cleveland orphanage, after the death of his mother and sisters.

The son, Louis Bleasdale, a 55-year-old mail carrier, asked tentatively:

"Does the name Zenas mean anything to you?"

"Zenas!" exclaimed the old man, his face lighting up. "Louis Zenas Bennett. That's old grandpop's name. The one you're named after."

"You're my father," said Louis. "You're the only one who would have known my real name is Zenas."

The son had abandoned that part of his name.

The father, meanwhile, had abandoned the last part of his name and was known in Ashland as "John L. Jones," rather than Bleasdale.

The elder Bleasdale said he had made several trips to Cleveland in an effort to locate the son. Mrs. Evelyn Edding of Cleveland, a niece, helped bring about the reunion after she read a newspaper story about the search.

Bleasdale said his grandfather, Louis Zenas Bennett, was an early Cleveland resident and had built a log cabin on the site of the present public square. His paternal grandfather, William H. Bleasdale, he added, had a land grant of 3,000 acres in Newburg, Ohio, where the American Steel and Wire company plant now stands.

Of Cleveland, Bleasdale said:

"I don't recognize the turn town any more, everything is so changed."
